THE MUSE

We fear you think it an old, old story
That we're quoting the annual salutatory
When we "bid you a welcome, our comrades dear,
And all those who have helped us through the year,"
But still as we offer our book, we feel,
Since our heart is in it, it's bound to appeal.

THE MUSE

For the first fifteen years of St. Mary's there were but the three buildings that now form the central group. The Chapel was on the first floor of East Rock; and the Rector and his family lived in the east half of the second floor of the Main Building; dormitories of the style of those still surviving were on both floors of West Rock and on the second floor of East Rock as well as on the third floor of the Main Building.

In 1867 the Chapel was built by the owner of the property according to Dr. Smedes' wishes. It was designed by Upjohn, a famous architect of the time, and the first floor of East Rock became available for other purposes. During the war as many individuals found a home in the school as have ever been accommodated since, but there was much "doubling up." In ordinary times, however, the full number of boarding pupils was usually less than a hundred.

In 1884 the Art Building, intended for recitation purposes only, was added to the equipment. The building was scarcely finished when it caught fire and was entirely burned, but without delay the present building was erected on the same foundations. No need for further new buildings was felt from this time until after the coming of Dr. Bratton, when his magnetic influence and the inauguration of an active campaign for students for what was now the Diocesan School led to a complete overflowing of the buildings. As speedily as possible funds were secured and Dr. Bratton had the North Dormitory and Rectory erected, meantime using the old Blount mansion across the street as an overflow dormitory.

The loss of the wooden Infirmary by fire in 1904 led to the building of the new brick Infirmary in that year; the next year the Chapel was rebuilt and enlarged through the efforts of the Alumnæ; in 1907 the Auditorium was erected as the Eliza Battle Pittman Memorial, and in 1909, partly through the Clement Legacy, Clement Hall and East and West Wing were added.

In the last session the enrollment at St. Mary's for the first time passed the three hundred mark, and more resident St. Mary's girls were in attendance than ever before. The boarding accommodations are at present limited to one hundred and seventy-five, which, however, still makes St. Mary's the largest Episcopal resident school for girls and young women in this country.

Alma Mater

TUNE—"Believe me, if all those endearing young charms"

St. Mary's, wherever thy daughters may be,
They love thy high praises to sing,
And tell of thy beauties of campus and tree
Around which sweet memories cling.
They may wander afar, out of reach of thy name,
Afar, out of sight of thy grove;
But the thought of St. Mary's aye kindles a flame
Of sweet recollections and love.

Beloved St. Mary's! How great is our debt!
Thou hast cared for thy daughters full well;
They can never thy happy instructions forget,
Nor fail of thy virtues to tell.
The love that they feel is a heritage pure;
An experience wholesome and sweet.
Through fast-rolling years it will grow and endure;
Be a lamp and a guide to their feet.

May the future unite all the good of thy past
With the best that new knowledge can bring.
Ever onward and upward thy course! To the last
Be thou steadfast in every good thing.
Generations to come may thy fair daughters still
Fondly think on thy halls and thy grove
And carry thy teachings o'er woodland and hill,
Of earnestness, wisdom and love.

The Alumnae Association of St. Mary's was established in 1880 and meets annually at Commencement. It has done effective work in aiding the progress of the School and grows yearly stronger and more vigorous.

The Alumnae Chapters meet in their several towns and cities on November 1st, All Saints, which is celebrated as Founders' Day, and on May 12th, the date of the first opening of St. Mary's, which is observed as Alumnae Day. There are active Alumnae Chapters in New York City, Baltimore, and many points in the South.

The most important special work accomplished by the Alumnae Association has been the establishment of the Smedes Memorial Scholarship, to the memory of the Founder and his son, the second Rector of St. Mary's; and the rebuiding of the Chapel. Its present special work is the fund for establishing the Mary IredeLL and the Kate McKimmon Scholarships.

Hail St. Mary's

In a grove of stately oak trees,
Where the sunlight lies,
Stands St. Mary's true and noble,
'Neath the Southern skies.

Far and wide, oh sound her praises,
Chorus full and free,
Hail, St. Mary's, Alma Mater,
Hail, all hail to thee!

Well we love the little chapel,
Ever hold it dear;
Hear the echoes of the music
Rising soft and clear.

Far and wide, etc.

There the ivy and the roses
Climb the old stone wall,
There the sweet, enticing bird notes
Sound their magic call.

Far and wide, etc.

And the bonds of friendship strengthen
As her beauties charm;
We draw close to Alma Mater,
Trust her guiding arm.

Far and wide, etc.

REV. GEORGE WILLIAM LAY
Fifth Rector of St Mary's
1907—

St. Mary's Hymn

Words by M. C.

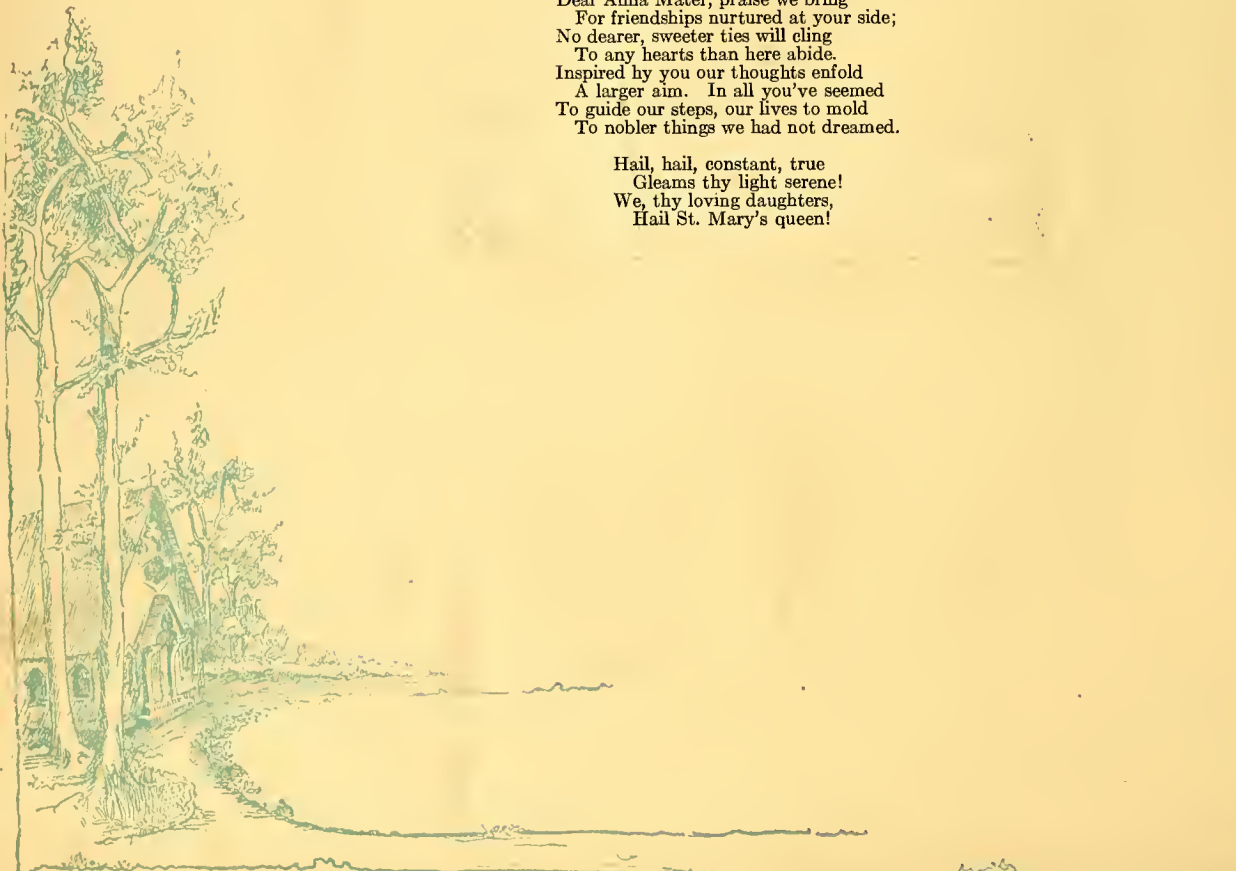

Music by R. BLINN OWEN

Come one and all, your voices lend,
In radiant tones our hymn we raise
To Alma Mater's glory, spend
Our every effort for her praise.
With glowing hearts we view these walls,
To them our girlhood mem'ries cling;
You campus green and well-loved halls,
To you our grateful hymn we sing.

Hail, hail, constant, true
Gleams thy light serene!
We, thy loving daughters,
Hail St. Mary's queen!

Dear Alma Mater, praise we bring
For friendships nurtured at your side;
No dearer, sweeter ties will cling
To any hearts than here abide.
Inspired by you our thoughts enfold
A larger aim. In all you've seemed
To guide our steps, our lives to mold
To nobler things we had not dreamed.

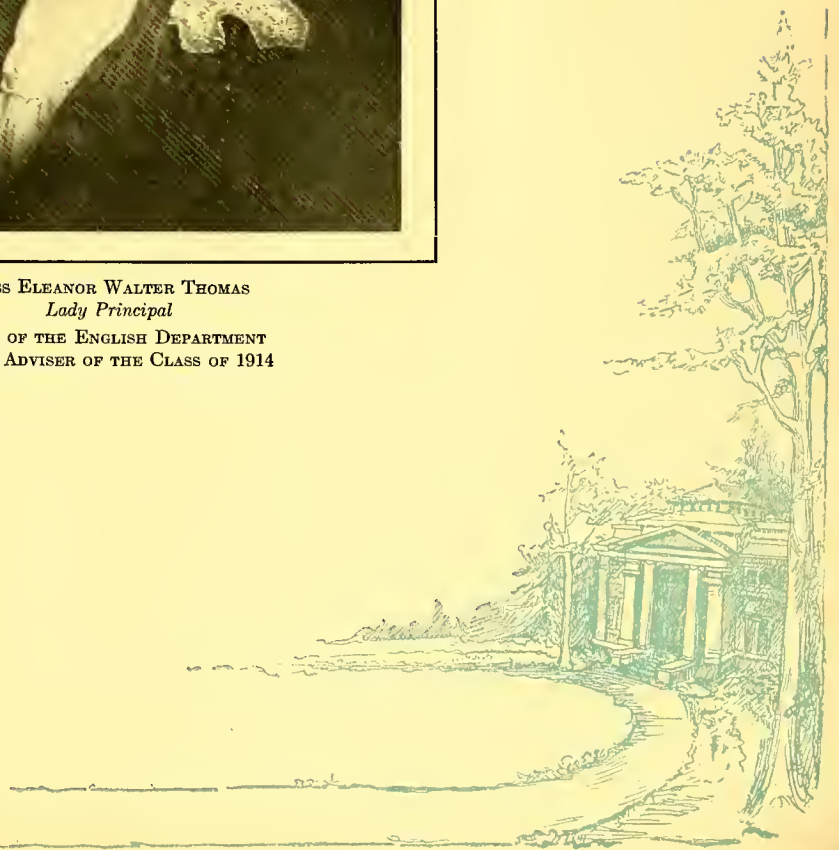

Hail, hail, constant, true
Gleams thy light serene!
We, thy loving daughters,
Hail St. Mary's queen!

The Inter-Society Debates

The Annual Inter-Society Debates were inaugurated in 1902 and were held each year until 1913. Including the debate of 1913, the Sigma Lambdas have been victorious eight years, and the Epsilon Alpha Pi debaters four years.

The Alpha Rho Society was organized in the fall of 1912, and this year a series of three debates between the Societies took the place of the Annual Debate. In this series the Alpha Rho won the honors of the year.

The Record to Date

- 1902—Poetry vs. Prose. Won by Sigma Lambda, Negative.
- 1903—Man vs. Woman. Won by Sigma Lambda, Affirmative.
- 1904—Japan vs. Russia. Won by Epsilon Alpha Pi, Negative.

St. Mary's Down in Dixie

(Tune: Dixie.)

Down in the South in the land of cotton,
Dear old school not a hit forgotten,
Hooray, hooray, hooray, hooray!

CHORUS:

For St. Mary's dear we'll never fear,
The thought of her brings only cheer,
Hooray, hooray, hooray for dear
St. Mary's!

St. Mary's, yes, great place for schoolin',
Where you work and play and do some foolin',
Hooray, hooray, hooray, hooray!
Chorus.

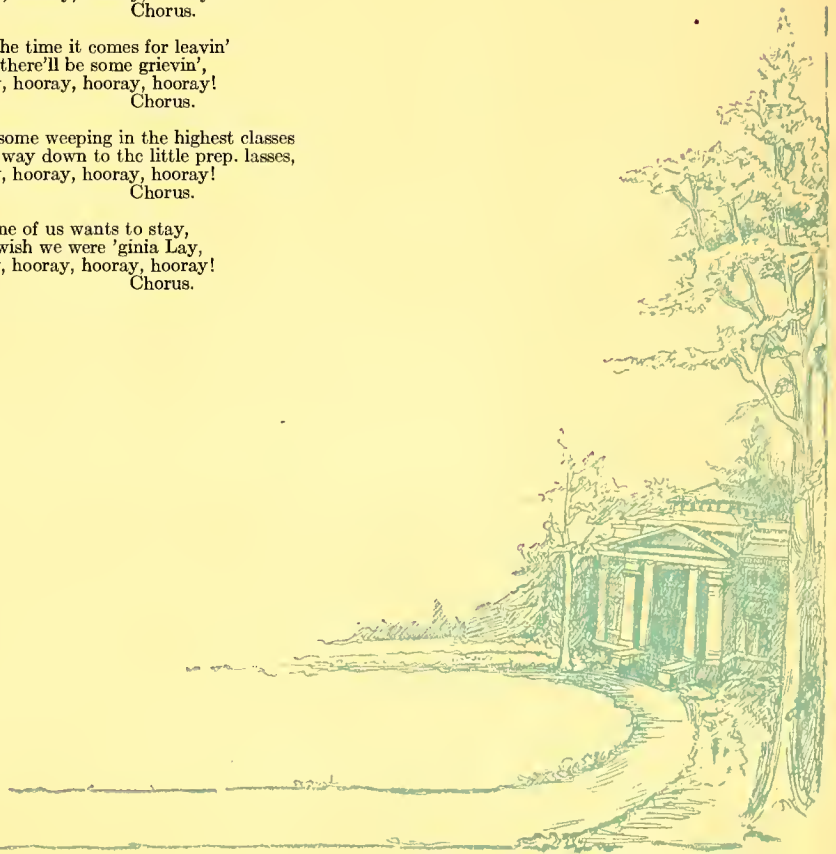

E A P's or Sigma Lamhda's,
Alpha Rho's or Namby-Pamha's,
Hooray, hooray, hooray, hooray!
Chorus.

We're sometimes Sigmas, sometimes Muses,
Whatever we are you'll please excuse us,
Hooray, hooray, hooray, hooray!
Chorus.

And when the time it comes for leavin'
Sure as life there'll be some grievin',
Hooray, hooray, hooray, hooray!
Chorus.

There'll be some weeping in the highest classes
And all the way down to the little prep. lasses,
Hooray, hooray, hooray, hooray!
Chorus.

For every one of us wants to stay,
We almost wish we were 'ginia Lay,
Hooray, hooray, hooray, hooray!
Chorus.

Statistics

Do not think the word statistic
Has a meaning strangely mystic
Or a businesslike connection
With the census-taking man.
It just registers our voting
In our population floating
Our intimate opinion
Of the girls who lead the van.

We find one supremely pretty
Or above them all most witty
Or one who treads a measure
On the most fantastic toe.
Our faith in them unshaken
We have had their pictures taken
And these beauties, wits and sages
Make a truly stunning show.

It's true there're fewer faces
Than we have enlisted places
But the reason isn't hidden
If you'll only look with care.
Not one chosen one was slighted
But some selfish girls united
More attractions than they should have,
More charms than were their share.

Hashimura Togo at St. Mary's

(With apologies to Wallace Irwin)

The last school I were divorced from answered by the name of that famous St. Mary which resides in the suburbs of A & M. This educator were a famous winter resort for burglars of all classes, except the wealthy, who come there for their financial health.

I was enjoying dreams of chicken salad and other fowl affairs when, Oh horrors! I am awake by some one clambering in my window. I give heroine-like scream for help, and Hon. teacher escort him out by front door, which are a more proper exit than his entrance.

We elope off to sleep, but can't do so for our minds resembled scrambled brains.

Hon. Editors, hardly could I recuperate from this sleepless and adventureful night, when something happened! Three Hon. quituates from class of 1914 were swinging and collapsed! There were a sudden falling off of the Senior class. There never was such a weighty subject for them was weighty girls! Of course I sniggle and giggle in spite of my usefulness attempts not to do so, yet it refuse not to escape.

"How do you?" they yellup with looks at me peculiar to daggers and agonizing, but thenceforth disremember their crossness on account of because a box are announced. With immediate quickness they bounce from the ground like they got there, or speedier, and gallup off limpfully to eats, where they do so. When all eatables has been consummated they pass to next, and so onwards!

Hon. Editors, how could 75 girls devour 69 cakes, 11 and $\frac{1}{2}$ olives and other, etc.? Yet so!

"Where are all that ingredients eloped to?" I ask for answer. But this are too intellectual questions for reply, for they are filled with something else than thoughts.

Why do unpleasantries occur? This are a solution which never are solved, and yet they do so. Small poxes are very independent animules and refused to be safely locked up as should be. Without invitation they make their way to the school and refuse to be expelled.

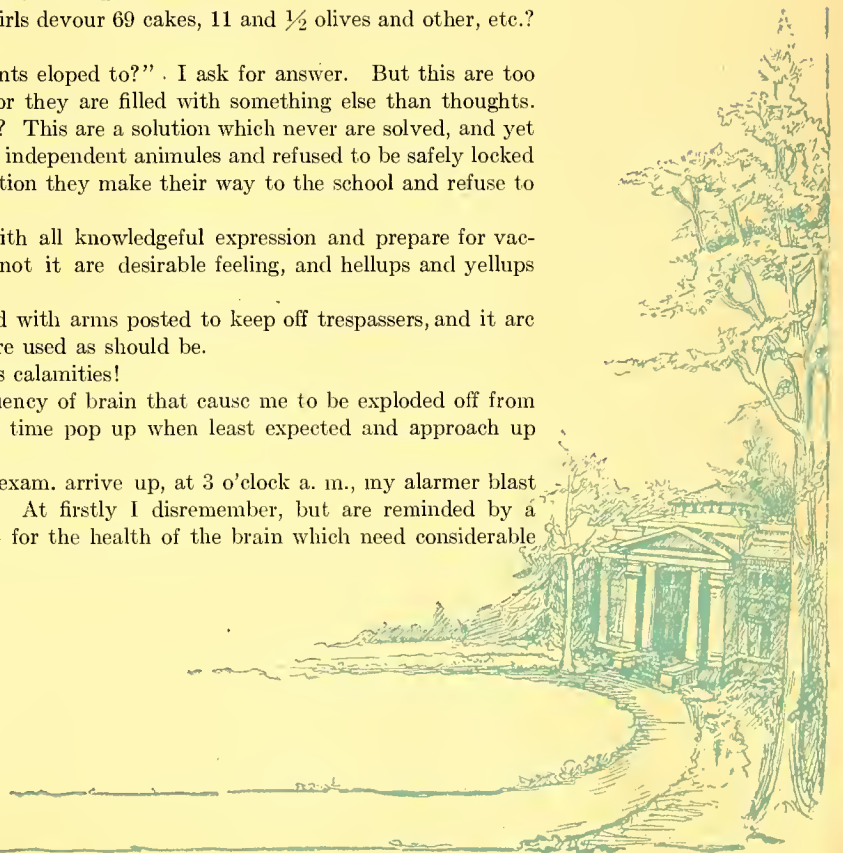

Hon. Doctor approach us with all knowledgeable expression and prepare for vaccination, and do so! whether or not it are desirable feeling, and hellups and yellups and faints are wasteful.

How students deplore around with arms posted to keep off trespassers, and it are considerable time before smiles are used as should be.

And yet catastrophies follows calamities!

It were on account of inefficiency of brain that cause me to be exploded off from that asylum of learning. Exam. time pop up when least expected and approach up with question mark eyebrows.

The night before Hon. Eng. exam. arrive up, at 3 o'clock a. m., my alarmer blast off with considerable explosion. At firstly I disremember, but are reminded by a punch that it are time to get up for the health of the brain which need considerable exercise soonly. While I are transacting myself to another room in which light are burning, oh horrors, that floor make noise peculiar to rats, only more so, and Hon. teacher approach up with mad-dog expression.

"Why are you thus separate from your bed at 3 o'clock in the morning a. m. before breakfast?" She anger.

"Making my units," I excuse.

"This are no time for units," she deplore for unreasonableness.

"Because you thusly disturb me, you may vacate yourself as soon as possible." I feel like approaching zero as a physical limit and do so.

Hoping you are the same,

Binks and the "Cruikshank Baby"

(Translated from the original language by Elizabeth Atkinson Lay)

Characters:

BINKS—the Cruikshanks' Cat.

ERNEST, JR.—the Cruikshanks' baby.

SCENE: A bedroom in Mrs. Cruikshank's apartments.

TIME: The lunch period.

Ernest, Jr., lies on the bed supposedly asleep, the bell rings and Mrs. Cruikshank goes out. Enter, from underneath the bed, Binks. He jumps up on the bed and Ernest immediately awakes.

BINKS—My dear little Crook, I—

ERNEST, JR.—Here is where I put my foot down. I can't make those girls stop calling me "Little Crook," the "Cruikshanks' Baby," and other insulting names; but I don't see why when a person has a name, and a nice, easy name at that—

BINKS—My dear Ernest, speaking of names, did you know that I was christened Robert Dante Gabriel Rossetti Chambers?

ERNEST—Indeed!

BINKS—Yes, and imagine the shock I received when those girls nicknamed me "Binks!" My mother was very literary and so—

ERNEST—Binks, would you like me to call you Dante?

BINKS—Oh, if you would be so accomodating.

ERNEST—I am always accomodating. Miss Sutton says I get it from my father. You know, Binks, I had a very sweet disposition when I first came to St. Mary's.

BINKS—Oh, yes; such a pity—

ERNEST—But, goodness, it's such a responsibility having such splendid parents and every one expects me to live up to them, which—

BINKS— —is impossible. You are a very lucky boy, Ernest, to have—

ERNEST—But it keeps me worn to the bone trying to be a credit to them. And the noises the girls make—My gracious, what was that!!!

BINKS—Only Emma, I suppose she didn't hear the bell, and so—

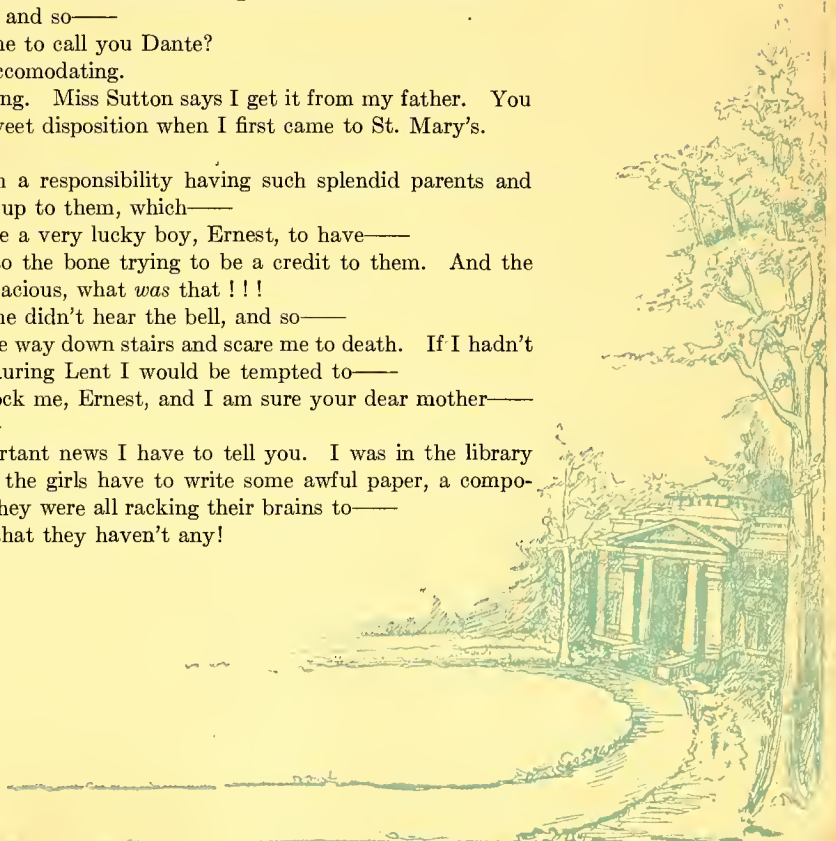

ERNEST—She had to tumble all the way down stairs and scare me to death. If I hadn't given up saying bad words during Lent I would be tempted to—

BINKS—Ah, please don't, you shock me, Ernest, and I am sure your dear mother—

ERNEST—There you go again—

BINKS—I almost forgot the important news I have to tell you. I was in the library yesterday, and it seems that the girls have to write some awful paper, a composition they called it, and so they were all racking their brains to—

ERNEST—I am firmly convinced that they haven't any!

THE MUSE

BINKS—Anyhow one girl said she was going to write about you and me and——

ERNEST—At last, some ray of sense in one girl at least——

BINKS—But the other girls said: "That would be impossible. Why, they can't even talk, and cats and babies haven't any character." Now what do you think of that?

ERNEST—Binks—Dante, I meant to say—that is only another manifestation of their depravity. Oh, when I first came I thought they were lovely. They gave me a beautiful carriage and the loveliest presents, but that's just the trouble; they don't think I have any character of my own——

BINKS—Yes, they say you get your charming (?) disposition from your father and——

ERNEST—It used to be charming 'til——

BINKS—And your intelligence from your mother——

ERNEST—And they call me insulting names and——

BINKS—Let's proclaim our troubles to the world——

ERNEST—But they'll just think a pin is sticking me.

BINKS—Meow, meow, m-e-o-w, m-e-e-o-o-o-w-w-, m-c-c-ee-oo-oo-w-w.

ERNEST—Boo, hoo, b-o-o-o- h-o-o-o-o, b-o-oo- oo- oo- h-oo- oo- oo- oo.

Enter Mrs. Cruikshank. Binks slips out of the door unseen.

MRS. C.—I thought I heard that cat in here. (Opens the door). Oh, Binks, here is your dinner. (Takes up the baby.) There, there, what is hurting my baby? Is a pin sticking him?

BINKS—Oh, my!

ERNEST—I told you so! Ah, woe is me!

N. B. (By request of Ernest and Binks): All animals and babies have a language of their own, and the sooner those foolish girls learn it the better. It is much more difficult than your foolish language, and as your brains are not equal to learning it we have to learn yours. Also we would like to announce that we have characters and very fine ones, too.

This book 's not for the public,
But for the initiated.
It 's not for rank outsiders,
For their taste is vitiated.
It 's ours and yours, our true friends,
Our most carefully selected ;
And it bears a greeting gracious,
Which we think 's not unexpected.
